

HAPPENINGS IN KENTUCKY.

The saloon of Reed Renshaw at Crofton was broken into and robbed the night of Sept. 15.

Rev. Paul H. Salmon, a Methodist minister 88 years old, died at Fairview Sunday.

John Selby, agent for the New York Life Insurance Co. who formerly did business at Pembroke, is wanted in Indianapolis for forgery.

The ball game at Madisonville Monday between that place and Springfield resulted in a victory for Madisonville, the score being 4 to 0.

Jo Ewing, colored, was shot and killed by Chief of Police J. K. Emmons, at Owingsville, Ky. Ewing resisted arrest.

The Kentucky State Federation of Labor is holding its fourth annual convention at Paducah.

Smallpox made its appearance in the home of former banker L. R. Porter, at Bowling Green, and the residents of an aristocratic section of that city are greatly alarmed.

The frost along Green river did considerable damage to tobacco, late corn and sorghum cane. The upland crops were not injured.

A case of smallpox has developed in Hart county, where Geo. Manion, of Esclid, is suffering with the disease.

George Bowman Deputy Sheriff of Breathitt county, is dead of typhoid fever, after a protracted illness. He was fifty years old and well known.

There is a good story going the rounds to the effect that on the recent jaunt of the Kentucky Press Association to the North a Northern editor asked one of the Kentuckians if he was married, remarks Louis Landram, of the Central Record. He answered that he was and that he had three children and that next July he is going to celebrate the Fourth.

Editor Harry Sommers, of the Elizabethtown News, is taking a rest from his newspaper labors this week on account of the Hardin county fair. It has been his custom for sixteen years to issue no paper during fair week.

A suit has been filed for a receiver for the Citizens' Mill and Elevator Company at Bardwell.

At Wheatcroft, a little mining town on the Dixon branch of the Illinois Central railroad, there are fifteen cases of typhoid fever.

P. W. Witt, of Owenton, has organized a bank at Hanson, Hopkins county. The capital stock will be $16,000 or $20,000.

The grocery of J. M. Evans, at Bardtown, has been closed under an attachment.

The Henderson Gleaner says: "T. O. Sugg (Tom), as he is well known throughout Western and Central Kentucky, died a few days since in Texas, where he had been living for several years. At one time Tom Sugg was one of the most successful drummers on the road."

There are twenty-five cases of smallpox in Livingston county, near Decatur. There has been one death from smallpox at Wychville, Ballard county.

The Salt River Tiger, published for several years past at Shepherdsville, is to be removed to Lebanon Junction.

The Grayson Leader is the name of the new Republican paper at Leitchfield, founded on the remains of the Grayson Eagle. Stuart B. Stone is the editor and G. W. Stone is the manager. The paper is a marked improvement on its predecessor.

THEY SLEEP.

BLUE O. HARD.

They sleep in the crowded city,
Laid out in walks and squares;
Where friends gather o'er them
Mingling tears and prayers.

They sleep in the country graveyard.
To the sound of a low refrain,
As the long grass waves above them
And sobs in the falling rain.

They sleep beneath the ocean,
While the proud ship plows the wave.

Yea, thousands of our loved ones
Sleep in a watery grave.

They sleep beneath the sandhills
Of the desert, drear and wide,
The rider and his camel
Are sleeping side by side.

They sleep on the field of battle—
A field with blood once red—
No monument marks the spot
Where rests the lonely dead.

They sleep by tens of millions
In every land and clime,
Dreamlessly awaiting God's appointed time.

When at the mighty signal
Of the angelic trumpet tread,
They'll meet on a common level,
The living and the dead.

HOPKINS AND CHRISTIAN.

Mr. Patterson Says Are Unusually Prosperous Just Now.

(Courier-Journal.)

"Hopkins and Christian counties are unusually prosperous just now," said Mr. T. E. Parsons, traveling representative of the Standard Oil Company in Kentucky, who is stopping at the Fifth Avenue.

"The coal mines in those counties are running full blast and have been for several weeks. Consequently the region round about is bubbling with prosperity. There does not seem to be a trace of the bad feeling caused by the recent strike. The mines are unable to keep up with the demand for coal and are reaping a harvest as the result of the Pennsylvania strike. Lack of cars prevents the Western Kentucky mines from doing an even larger business than they are handling at present."

"General business conditions are good throughout the western part of the State despite the poor wheat crop. The corn crop bids fair to exceed expectations, and it looks as though the apprehensions of the farmers expressed during the hot dry spell were largely unfounded."

Who?

The Oklahoma City (O. T.) Journal makes these queries:

Who publishes your lodge notices free?

Who publishes your church notices free?

Who publishes news of your business free?

Who publishes the news of your friends free?

Who publishes items for you by request free?

Who publishes hundreds of items helping to build up your city and increase the value of your property—free?

Is it the advertising fakir?

Is it the people you send to out of town to do your work?

Is it just—that you ask the newspapers to print all this for you and go elsewhere with your patronage?

Is it right—that you talk home industry and send your business out of town or patronize strangers?

Do you believe in reciprocity? If you do, why not patronize those of whom you ask favors?

Sturges Went Dry.

In the local option election held at Sturges Saturday the "dry" won and prohibition will remain in force. The vote was 132 to 80.

It is never safe to gauge the sentiment of the country by the cheers in the congressional galleries.

DOWN IN THE MINES.

One of the latest strikes of coal miners took place in our county a few days ago at a small county coal mine north of Madisonville. The operators of the mine had expressed a love for the U. M. W. organization and had practically turned the mine over to them to be run at their dictation, and true to the rules of the order which gives them the right to either shut down a mine or run it on their own conditions, they were not long in closing same. Plainly seeing that they possessed the power of control, they at once made a demand for higher wages, which upon being refused, they, to a man, laid down their mining tools and closed down the mine, and the laugh is now on the operators, who gave them all encouragement possible by recognition of the order, but failed to comply with the request for higher wages, showing that there was no love there when the pocket was touched. But as the entire force only consisted of six men all told, the coal consumer feels the effect of the shut down but little, yet the same disposition to rule or ruin is shown wherever the U. M. W. have control.

The daily production of coal during the winter months is not equal to the consumption, therefore with the mines in Pennsylvania shut down for several months past a short supply of coal will most likely be the result. This of course will fall heavier upon the idle miners who in a large measure is more to blame than these laborers who have remained steady at work at other vocations; thus it can be seen that strikes, like a two-edged sword, cuts both ways, cutting off both wages and the coal supply, by their wrong actions.

Soft coal is said to be selling at $8.50 per ton on the Chicago market and anthracite coal can not be bought at any price. Such being the condition of affairs on the coal market, the prospect of the unprecedented demand upon the bituminous coal mines of Kentucky does at this time look very bright indeed; but how can they supply outside markets when during even the late summer months they have had more orders than could be filled promptly, and miners complain of lack of sufficient rest, but as they have in the past remained true to their employers when rush orders came in, they can still be depended upon to respond to the call for extra work.

What a contrast the quiet, peaceable times of this month presents to that of last September, when two coaches full of true and tried men were sent to Madisonville on request of the sheriff to be used in quelling disturbances created by members of the U. M. W. who at that time seemed determined to take the Reinecke mine by force. Now but few of that organization can be seen in this county and they wanting work at any price, and full of sorrow no doubt over the wrong acts thus committed, but sorrow don't help their case now as the operators have found them wanting in the qualities that constitute faithful employees.

The sad statement comes from Madisonville that one of the miners of that place who once enjoyed the luxuries of life while in the employ of the coal company, but who later joined Wood's gang of idlers, now is forced to beg for the necessities of life. Sympathy is due any wife and children who suffer, but little is due the husband and father who by idleness brought on poverty. No man need be idle in this county if he conducts himself so as to command the respect of the employer.

Word comes from our neighboring county—Christian—that the Sand Lick Oil Co. who have been boring for oil there for months past, now feel confident of being rewarded for their labors. One test shows they have drilled through what is said to be forty feet of oil producing rock, and that at a depth of 1,700 feet, and from this well they look for favorable results.

Mr. Thos. Gooch, of Hanson, traveling salesman for Bement & Seitz, and who is interested in the effort to strike oil south of Henderson, says reports from the men in charge of the work and also that of experts, are of an assuring nature and that prospects indicate a rich oil strike in the near future.

Secretary Bailey, of the Reinecke Coal Company, found time last Saturday to spend a while here among his friends, who regard him as one of the promoters of the present prosperity now enjoyed by this county.

The Providence Coal Company is now doing a heavy business, two extra trains being run out of there last Sunday to move the coal, and other freight, which shows what can be done when the U. M. W. get out of the way.

Mr. John Haley, of the St. Bernard Company, is responsible for the story that during his long years of residence at a point so close to the Ohio river, he never until a week ago saw that stream or a steamboat and was much amused to see a street car at Evansville and that it moved without horse or engine.

A stable consisting of thirty stalls has just been completed in No. 11 mine. This will save the mules a long trip to and from work, and the drivers the trouble of riding them to and from, and therefore a portion of the races seen almost daily, will cease.

The many friends of Mr. F. B. Arnold, of the St. Bernard Co., deeply sympathize with him and his wife and children in their present sad bereavement, the loss of their dear little daughter.

Secretary Geo. C. Atkinson, accompanied by his youngest daughter, made Henderson a visit last Saturday and when last seen George was being led around the city looking at the river and other sights.

Secretary Paul M. Moore, of the Aptontley Coal Co., has returned with his family from a western trip much improved in health.

A loss of over $25,000 is the result of a late fire in the Texas oil field, and at last accounts it was still burning.

After having abused the governor of Pennsylvania for sending troops to preserve order in the strike regions, the same fellows are now appealing to him to end the strike. A little backbone sometimes makes men humble themselves.

One of the true and tried workers of the St. Bernard Co. has been offered a position with the Nortonville Coal Co. as a carpenter, said company now wanting fifty dwelling houses to be built on short notice, to accommodate a force of miners they expect to put at work soon developing the mines. A new track for use in loading coal is being put in by the Illinois Central there, we understand.

Some coal land, we understand, was last week purchased by Mr. Nick Toombs of this place. It is located a few miles west of this place. Thus far the land has been used principally for farming purposes.

Manager James R. Rash, of the St. Bernard Company stores, was called to Webster county again last week on important business for the company.

Every mine under the control of the St. Bernard Co. is being worked to its full capacity and still orders remain unfilled. No rest in sight for the miners here.

Ashland, Ky., now boasts of a coal company whose capital stock is $1,300,000, having lately been increased for the further development of coal mines and erection of coke ovens.

Several lead mines in Kentucky are now receiving the attention of men of capital. One of the latest being that near Paducah, where a stock company with capital of $20,000 was recently organized.

The new coal mine now being opened at Henderson, Ky., will be operated by Mr. O. W. Rash and David Banks. The product will be for home consumption principally.

The Carbondale mine changed hands last week, a Paducah company having secured control of same. It is hoped the new company will imitate the coal companies already doing business in this county and not surrender to the U. M. W. which means continual trouble and turmoil.

Chief Bookkeeper W. G. Wright of the Crabtree Coal Co., was called here last week the serious illness of his wife who was compelled to undergo a surgical operation. Walter expects to return to work soon as his wife shows signs of rapid recovery.

The rapid progress made by some of the recent leaders of the U. M. W. toward wealth evidently made some of their humble followers jealous and no doubt was the cause of the removal of Barnaby and Chappell and others. The fine new house being built by Watson indicates that he was at least well paid for his services as organizer. Tate don't seem to have had much to do with the finances.

Some surprising and extensive changes may be looked for in the Kentucky coal mining fields in the near future.

Hopkinsville Girl Elopes.

Louis Frazer, a young man late of Nashville, a painter working for Forbes & Bro., and Miss Cora Walker, daughter of Mr. Geo. W. Walker, eloped to St. Louis last Wednesday night and were married in that city. They have notified the bride's parents of their marriage and will remain in St. Louis for the present. The bride is seventeen years of age and was a pupil in the eleventh grade of the public school, and would have graduated next year. The young couple had known each other for only about two months.

Annual Meeting of Mexican War

Veterans at Paris, Ky., Sept. 25.

The National Association of Mexican War Veterans will hold their annual meeting at Paris, Ky., Sept. 26. All survivors of the Mexican War, their widows and children are invited to be present. Address Col. J. C. Craddock, Paris, Ky., or 1st Vice President, W. S. McClellan, Lexington, Ky.

LOCOMOTIVE BLASTS

Chief Dispatcher E. L. Wise was in Evansville Monday on business for the company.

Supt. John W. Logsdon and Train Master Sheridan were in Guthrie and Crofton last week on the company's business.

The people at Crofton are considerably exercised over the prospect of the L. & N.'s building the new line some distance from the town.

Fireman Y. Q. Walker was made glad by a visit from his wife and daughter a few days last week.

Conductor Frank Sweeney was so unfortunate as to lose his position with the L. & N. last week. He has been with the company some time, and as he is a good railroad man, it will doubtless be an easy matter to secure a position with some other road.

Calvin J. Martin has returned to Earlinton and we are all rejoiced to see him once more. Cal is a general favorite in Earlinton, as well as on the road.

E. M. Orr, wife and sister left Friday morning for Green river, where they will spend a week or ten days fishing.

Col. Wm. Edmonson and wife were out Sunday afternoon enjoying a boat ride on the placid waters of Loch Mary.

There were only 253 people down to see 51 pass Sunday afternoon.

That wedding we were telling you about in last week's Bee will sure come off. Don't get impatient.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers will, on January 1 next, make a formal demand for an increase of wages. The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, it is said, is not affiliated in its fight with the Western Federation of General Committees, composed of railroad conductors and brakemen. — San Francisco Call.

The Louisville & Nashville has announced its intentions that it has been compelled almost to eliminate the stop over privileges on its tickets on account of the operations of ticket scalpers. Hereafter the privileges will be the same as they have been on the homeseekers' tickets, but on the regular firm tickets stop overs will be permitted except at Mammoth Cave and Gulf coast points.

Miss Flora Harris, of Hopkinsville, sues the Louisville & Nashville railroad for $25,000, alleging that she was so frightened at a train approaching her at alarming speed she fainted on the track, being rescued by onlookers. She says her nervous system is shattered.

Bowling Green, Ky.—There is talk of building an electric railroad from Bowling Green to Smith's Grove, a distance of about 12 miles.

Louisville—Railroad Shops.—Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company has definitely decided to erect the extensive shops which have recently been mentioned, and the cost of entire work and machinery is estimated at $2,100,000. R. Montfort, chief engineer, is preparing the plans, and will be ready to receive bids in about two months; he will let contracts for the buildings, heating apparatus, lighting plant and traveling cranes. P. Leeds, superintendent of machinery, will purchase all the tools required.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 18, 1902.

CHICAGO notoriety is now sought by certain daily newspapers through efforts to raise popular subscriptions to prolong the ugly strike in the anthracite region, and some in the effort to work up mammoth petitions to President Roosevelt to "stop the strike."

A certain daily circulating quite extensively among conservative citizens and business men of this State has been "hearing from the subscribers" on the question of the paper's attitude toward unionism and strikes. Many business men in Hopkins county think they themselves know a thing or two about mine workers unions, agitators and things.

THERE 'L'D be "somethin' doin'" when Attorney General Pratt gets strung out in the contest with or without gloves before the Jefferson circuit court in the injunction proceedings to test the legality of the proposed McGovern-Corbett fight announced for Louisville. The Attorney General is known to be good at contests and usually handles them with gloves.

UNIONISTS of Chicago propose to start a union labor party which will demand of the government a number of things set forth in their prospectus. One of their strong points is to be a demand that Federal Judges be chosen by popular election. A clause probably suggested by mine workers. Seems to be a real menace to rioters that they are unable to hold over Federal Judges the club of threatened retirement from office. They would choose to dominate all the courts.

THERE is no question but Governor Beckham will receive the approval of a large number of Kentucky men and women for the step he has taken to determine the legality of fictitious contests—to a finish—on Kentucky soil. The point is to be settled in the Jefferson circuit court by injunction proceedings, to which end the Governor has requested Attorney General Pratt to take the necessary steps to "enjoin the holding of the contest and thereby preventing it unless it is conclusively shown by the judgment of the courts that there is to be no violation of law." The attitude of the Jefferson court may not at this distance be guessed, but the legal contest is in good hands and our Attorney General may be depended upon to win out for the state if the state's laws only give him a fair show with the pugs.

ADOPTING The Bee's plan (this is no joke) of enumerating the principal outrages perpetrated in the Hopkins, Christian and Webster county coal field in 1901, the New York Sun has published two and a half columns of items setting out in like chronological order the chief crimes and outrages perpetrated in the anthracite regions during the present strike. Yet notwithstanding the appalling category of murder and rapine some even who are ministers of the gospel have held meetings and spoken for the encouragement and taken up collections for the material support of the strikers who are daily doing these deeds of violence. These contributions will help to prolong the strike and to multiply the outrages committed by the ignorant unionists inflamed by such public sympathy.

As Associated Press dispatch from Wilkesbarre, Pa., dated Sept. 15, says:

Two Italians, named John Divino and Antonio Dizal, at Old Forge, Pa., were held up by fifty Italian strikers as they were returning from work this morning. Both men were badly clubbed and stoned. Several shots were fired and a striker is reported to have been shot in the leg. Divino's injuries were so serious that he had to be removed to the Pittston, Pa., hospital. Dizal was able to walk to his boarding house.

In singular contrast to this is the long distance telephone interview of the Indianapolis News with John Mitchell on that day. Mitchell talked from Wilkesbarre. When asked if the troops were to be withdrawn from the region he replied:

Not that I know of. All the information I have on the matter is what I see in the papers. There is no need of troops, however, as the men are orderly. They are keeping within the law.

The Chicago preachers, or some notoriety-seeking daily paper should now rise up and take another collection for the Italian strikers.

NORTONVILLE ITEMS.

Miss Eura Dillingham, a highly respected young lady, died at the home of her parents, near this place, last Friday. She was a Christian lady and loved by all who knew her.

not large. Excluding the enumerators, the entire clerical force embraced only 3,550 persons. The work was done by force of numbers, but by organization. Every clerk knew his own particular task, thoroughly.

The new bureau of course retains all these characteristics and includes all the essentials of the larger organization. But where 3,550 clerks were needed formerly the director of the permanent office will have but 750.

These will be under the direction of the present executive, four chief statisticians, a chief clerk and a disbursing officer. The clerks represent probably the most highly trained and carefully selected body of classified employees in the United States. They are all of the highest possible record. Every one of the 750 earned his continuation in office by unusual application and the most manifold skill. They are a body of experts, ready to undertake any kind of statistical work.

This force, while organized primarily to perform the duties of a permanent bureau, will enable Director Merriam to work several important reforms. When the thirteenth census is to be taken, the permanent force can be very easily expanded by the employment of additional clerks of the lowest grade and the work done with an understanding and freedom from distraction which will contribute greatly to the success of the enumeration. Mr. Merriam's expectation is that the head of the office in 1910 should be able to beat even the record of this census and complete the issue of his statistical volumes not in seven years or even in two years, but in one year after the enumerators have prepared their schedules.

The permanent force has been divided into five divisions—population, manufactures, agriculture, vital statistics and geographical and miscellaneous. The work of the divisions has been so arranged that all five can be steadily employed until time to prepare for the next census. In the meantime statistics relating to agricultural products, births and deaths, etc., will be gathered each year.

TAKING THE CENSUS

PERMANENT BUREAU ORGANIZED FOR THAT PURPOSE.

Force of Experts to be Continuously Employed Gathering Statistics and Preparing for the Next Enumeration—Work of Director Merriam.

When the time arrives to take the next census of Uncle Sam's domain there will be a fully equipped and thoroughly organized force ready to undertake the task. In the past the organization of a force to take the census has been a mighty undertaking, and the work of compiling the results of the enumerators has been a labor of years.

All this is changed now, for the interior department has organized a permanent census bureau, the first in the United States. Such an undertaking presupposes confusion—the assembly of an army of clerks, the disposition of supplies and the preparation of quarters. But such was not the case. The important new bureau sprang into life without causing a ripple.

Under the direction of William R. Merriam, the last census was the most complete and expeditious ever taken. In previous decennial years directors of the census have wrestled year after year with the enumerators and its incidental computations, sometimes for five years, sometimes six, sometimes even seven years, but never less than four. Mr. Merriam's force completed its four principal reports in about two years, having done work that in the previous census extended over seven years.

To accomplish such a result required the greatest possible degree of administrative skill and energy. There were, for example, over 12,000 enumerators to be trained and supervised. About 620,000,000 cards passed through the punching-machine in the Washington office. The "special" tasks of the bureau included 900,000 schedules on population, 50,000 schedules on vital statistics, 5,758,524 agricultural schedules and 608,401 schedules on manufactures. Every single schedule, every one of the 620,000,000 cards which were punched here in the main office of the bureau, had to be carefully examined and stripped of its statistical information.

Yet the number of assistants who united with Governor Merriam to achieve this result in two years was not large. Excluding the enumerators, the entire clerical force embraced only 3,550 persons. The work was done by force of numbers, but by organization. Every clerk knew his own particular task, thoroughly.

The new bureau of course retains all these characteristics and includes all the essentials of the larger organization. But where 3,550 clerks were needed formerly the director of the permanent office will have but 750.

These will be under the direction of the present executive, four chief statisticians, a chief clerk and a disbursing officer. The clerks represent probably the most highly trained and carefully selected body of classified employees in the United States. They are all of the highest possible record. Every one of the 750 earned his continuation in office by unusual application and the most manifold skill. They are a body of experts, ready to undertake any kind of statistical work.

This force, while organized primarily to perform the duties of a permanent bureau, will enable Director Merriam to work several important reforms. When the thirteenth census is to be taken, the permanent force can be very easily expanded by the employment of additional clerks of the lowest grade and the work done with an understanding and freedom from distraction which will contribute greatly to the success of the enumeration. Mr. Merriam's expectation is that the head of the office in 1910 should be able to beat even the record of this census and complete the issue of his statistical volumes not in seven years or even in two years, but in one year after the enumerators have prepared their schedules.

The permanent force has been divided into five divisions—population, manufactures, agriculture, vital statistics and geographical and miscellaneous. Will Make Affidavit

New Lease of Life for an Iowa Postmaster.

Postmaster R. H. Randall, Dunlap, Ia., says: "I suffered from indigestion and resulting evils for years. I tried Kodol. I soon knew I had found what I had long looked for. I am better today than in years. Kodol gave me a new lease of life. Anyone can have my affidavit to the truth of this statement. Kodol digests your food. This enables the system to assimilate supplies, strengthening every organ and restoring health."

Kodol Makes You Strong.

Shooting at Hecla.

James McClellan and Ben Kendall, both colored, were taken to Madisonville Monday by Marshal William McGary, of Earlinton charged with shooting William Groves, a white man, at Hecla Saturday night with intent to kill. The men had a difficulty over a dog and Groves was shot in several places. It is said that seven bullets were extracted from one of his legs. In default of bond the negroes were locked up in jail and their examining trial set for Wednesday.

Wanted.

We would like to ask, through the columns of your paper, if there is any person who has used Green's August Flower for the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia, and Live Troubles that has not been cured—and we also mean their results, such as sour stomach, fermentation of food, habitual constiveness, nervous dyspepsia, headaches, despondent feelings, sleeplessness—in fact, any trouble connected with the stomach or liver? This medicine has been sold for many years in all civilized countries, and you will be correspond with us and send you one of our books free of charge. We have tried August Flower, try one bottle first. We have never known of its failing. If so, so much the more serious is the matter with you. Ask your oldest druggist.

To anybody who is familiar with the attitude of foreign countries toward the United States before the Spanish-American war, says a prominent American now in Europe, the change that has come over those countries is surprising. Before the war there was a marked sentiment of hostility, but the war opened the eyes of the people. The unfriendly sentiment has become a feeling of respect and admiration. The nations realize the fact that the United States is a country worth reckoning with.

Fayette Fraser, merchant of Cave-in-Rock, Ill., said: "I have used Hill's Specific in my family for three or four years. My children cry for it. Children all over the United States cry for Hill's Specific. As there is nothing that will give relief in as short order as Hill's Specific. Price 25c. for sale by all patent medicine dealers in the country."

The counterfeiting industry is well organized in Paris, and is said to possess a capital of $500,000. If there are not too many members the organization might disband, giving to each stockholder a handsome competence. The possibilities are, however, that the stock is watered.

Big Figures.

100,000,000 bottles of Perry Davis' Painkiller sold in 60 years. Just think! Nearly enough placed end to end to reach the world. What other remedy can boast such a record of services to humanity in curing stomach and bowel complaints and the many other ailments and accidents constantly occurring even in the most careful homes. There is only one Painkiller, Perry Davis'. Beware of imitations.

Leading English journals, which violently condemned, a few years ago, the Monroe doctrine as an exhibition of Yankee bragado, now accept it as a policy to which England has no right to take exception. The Monroe doctrine, according to this view, no longer concerns England, but Germany alone in Europe.

President Hill, the railway manager, thinks $400,000,000 spent on deepening the channel of the Mississippi between St. Louis and New Orleans would be no more advantage than an asphaltum canal. But both the canal and the deepened channel will be immensely valuable, and must be regarded as two vital and closely related links in the commercial facilities of the future.

Impure Drinking Water is always a source of danger; dysentery and bowel troubles follow its use. Every person should have handy a bottle of Painkiller (Perry Davis'), which will quickly cure these distressing ailments. WESTERN FOREST FIRES.

Summary of the Devastation Thus Far Resulting From the Far Western Forest Fires.

DAMAGE WILL AGGREGATE MILLIONS.

There Has Been Some Loss of Human Life, But How Serious It Is Impossible Yet to Determine—Only a General Idea Can Be Gained From the "Times" Progress.

Kalamazoo, Wash., Sept. 15.—News reached here Sunday night that the forest fires on Lewis river have wrought sad havoc. J. L. Wallace, wife and two children were burned to death. They were among the first wagon when caught by the fire. Their wagon was found turned up, the charred bodies lying near. A 12-year-old boy of Mr. Hanley's is also dead. John Polly and baby and a brother, name unknown, and Mr. Newhouse and Mrs. Graves are dead. When others were found without clothing excepting gunny sacks. Five logging camps are burned out completely. The following families have lost everything: Eliza Street, O. S. Cartwright, L. M. Chitty, Thomas Matthews, T. Wilkerson, H. E. Darland, Dr. Ellis and others. The worst of the fire is on Lewis river, about twenty miles above Woodland. The country is well settled and there are doubtless other casualties not yet reported.

Five Timber Destroyed.

The fire has spread from Lewis river north to the Kalamazoo river, and 50 sections of the timber have been consumed. It is impossible to give any estimate of the amount of damage done to property. Oak Point, 30 miles below the town of Woodland, is totally destroyed. There are no reports of lives lost, but loss to property is estimated at about $200,000.

A great fire is also raging on the Coweman, in the northern part of the county. Everything combustible in its path was consumed. The air is thick with smoke and falling ashes. Hill's camp is reported destroyed; Muckley Brothers' No. 2 camp is also burned out. Moreland's camp, the timber is ruined. Seven donkey engines are reported missing. People are panic stricken and many are fleeing, fearing with grief over loss of property.

The Whole Country in Gloom.

Comitaz county thought it was going to escape until Sunday, when reports came thick and fast, each worse than the last. Five people are dead and two missing, with many partial reports from the burned district. The horrible news has cast a gloom over the entire country that can hardly be described. A courier just arrived from Lewis river states that there are only two houses left standing on Lewis river from Traill's place to head of the river, a distance of 30 miles, and that not less than fifteen people have perished.

THE OREGON FIRES.

Multnomah and Clackamas Counties the Worst Sufferers.

Portland, Ore., Sept. 15.—About three hundred people are left homeless on Multnomah and Clackamas counties as a result of the forest fires that have raged there for the last week.

In the fire that destroyed the town of Palmer, near Bridal Veil, two boys named Hamilton were caught while trying to escape from the flames and burned to death. The timber losses in Clackamas county have been immense, and the whole length of the Clackamas river is being burned out, and the most distressing losses have been suffered in the vicinity of Springfield, Clackamas county, the town of Multnomah county. The Springfield region has been utterly swept by the fires, and those who have reached points in communication with the outside find that immediate help must be sent in order to save the lives rescued from the burning flames. Around Portland the fires are dying down and the people in the suburbs are resting easy for the first time since Thursday.

KING EDWARDS' HEALTH.

His Majesty Said to Be in Better Health than for Many Years—Resuscitating in Scotland.

New York, Sept. 13.—There has been a marked improvement in the king's health since the coronation, says a London dispatch. The king's health is strictly regulated. Those who have seen and talked with him in Scotland assert that he is in better health than for many years, and that his vivacity and cheerfulness are noticeable.

Col. Rafferty Dead at Manila.

Manila, Sept. 15.—Col. William A. Rafferty, of the 12th Cavalry, died at San Felipe, Pinar del Rio, Cuba, yesterday, at his residence, after a week ago. Gen. Caffrey was at his bedside when he expired. Col. Rafferty's remains will be sent home on the United States army transport Logan.

Farmer Killed by a Neighbor.

Guthrie, Okla., Sept. 15.—In a quarrel over school affairs, Joseph Watkins, a farmer, of Guthrie, Okla., was shot and killed by a neighbor, Doc E. Cravens. The school board had made a tax levy which did not meet Watkins' approval. The quarrel took place at Cravens' place. The latter was wounded and was released on bail.

DEATH OF GOV. SHEPHERD.

The Man Who Made Washington a Magnificent City, Passes Away at Batopias, Mexico.

Washington, Sept. 13.—A private telegram received from Batopias, Mexico, announces the death of the late Governor of the District of Columbia during the week of the government of the district in 1871, and two years later governor of the district. He was 67 years of age. The cause of death was peritonitis, brought on by an attack of appendicitis. Mrs. Shepherd, accompanied by her son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Merchant, who reside in Washington, were informed of the serious illness of the governor Thursday, and left at once for Batopias. Gov. Shepherd was the executive officer of the board of public works, in spite of vigorous opposition, began and successfully continued improvements in all parts of the city. It is the result that Washington became a magnificent capital. To the governor is given credit for digging out a project for the removal of the capital to some western city, which was warmly agitated at one time. At the expiration of his term of office, he was in company with New York capitalists, he purchased the old Hacienda San Miguel silver mine, at Batopias, which in later years have proved profitable, and there he has since retired. He leaves a widow and seven children.

JUSTICE HORACE GRAY DEAD.

The Recently Retired Member of the United States Supreme Court Has Passed Away.

Lynn, Mass., Sept. 16.—Justice Horace Gray, who retired from the United States supreme bench recently, died at his residence in Nahant, Mass., at 10 o'clock yesterday. He had been in poor health for some time. Since his retirement he had been staying at his summer home. Judge Gray was born in Boston March 24, 1828, and was graduated from Harvard college in the class of 1849, and from the law school in 1848. He was admitted to the bar in 1851. He was reporter of the supreme judicial court of Massachusetts from 1854 until 1861. He was appointed associate justice of the court in 1864, and chief justice in 1873. President Arthur commissioned him an associate justice supreme court of the United States, December 19, 1881.

IN A WEST VIRGINIA MINE.

Seventeen Lives Lost by an Explosion in the Big Four Coal Mine at Coal Creek, W. Va.

North Fork, W. Va., Sept. 15.—A gas and powder explosion occurred here Monday in the Big Four mine of the Algoma Coal and Coke Co., as the result of which James Lester, an engineer, John Reck, a Hungarian, and 15 colored miners are known to be imprisoned in the mine.

Bodies Recovered.

Bluefield, W. Va., Sept. 15.—A telephone message just received from Algoma says that 11 bodies have been recovered from the mines and that 10 more bodies are expected. So far those recovered are all of colored miners, with the exception of one white miner named Lester. The names of the other men are unavailable at this hour.

A MULTI-MILLIONAIRE DEAD.

Winfield Stratton, the Well-Known Mining Man, Passes Away at Colorado Springs.

Colorado Springs, Col., Sept. 15.—Winfield Stratton, the millionaire mining man, died at 9:35 Sunday night. Mr. Stratton had been ill for several months. He had been in a critical condition for several weeks. Many of the strikers have not yet been unaccounted for throughout the day, and relatives, including a sister, Mrs. Jennie Stratton, of Denver, who is the only near relative who survives Mr. Stratton, did not leave his bedside at any time.

OYSTER BAY WAS IN FETE.

President Roosevelt's Reception to His Neighbors of Nassau County.

EIGHTEEN THOUSAND WERE PRESENT.

Each Visitor Passing in Line Received a Glass of Lemonade and Retained the Glass as a Souvenir of the Occasion—Perfect Police Precautions.

Oyster Bay, L. I., Sept. 16.—Oyster Bay was in fete Monday. Clouds of bustling and jostling added to the bustle and house. Thousands of strangers were on the streets and every few moments the loud report of an aerial loaded with powder broke the stillness. The occasion for this celebration was the reception which President Roosevelt tendered to the people of Nassau county at his home on Sagamore Hill. The weather was delightful, and the members of the committees having the affair in charge estimated that 18,000 persons were present. Special trains came from Hempstead, Mineola, Far Rockaway and Freeport, in addition to the large number of yachts brought down parties from New York and vicinity. One band from Brooklyn and three from Long Island played on the lawn during the reception.

Perfect arrangements were made for handling the crowd on Sagamore Hill. The president received his neighbors on the porch of his house and as they shook hands with him they passed to the rear of the house from which the glasses were tendered. The glasses were retained by the visitors as souvenirs.

Mrs. Roosevelt was on the porch at the time and assisted in the reception. It was decided to dispense with introductions, and no one was allowed to stop and talk with the president. Once the line started it was kept moving.

Extra precautions were taken to guard against trouble. Sheriff Johnson of Nassau county had sworn in 300 special deputy sheriffs, and in addition to this, a large number of secret service men were present, stationed about the porch.

NICHOLAS FISH IS DEAD.

The Millionaire New York Banker Succumbed to Injuries Received Monday.

SEQUEL TO A RENDEZVOUS WITH WOMEN.

Thomas Sharkey, With Whom Fish Had an Altercation, Held Under Heavy Bond, and the Two Women Held as Witnesses—Sharkey's Story of the Affair.

New York, Sept. 17.—Nicholas Fish, millionaire, diplomat and descendant of one of the best known of American families, died at the Roosevelt hospital at 3:25 Tuesday morning, the result of an injury received in a quarrel with a woman at 293 West Thirty-fourth street, Monday. Whether he was murdered or fell the police have not yet determined. Conflicting stories, such as would naturally follow an event in which criminal responsibility must be placed, are told, but there seems to be no doubt that the quarrel was with Mrs. Fish's wife. Mr. Fish had a quarrel with a private detective named Thos. J. Sharkey, who joined the banker at a table, where he had been for several hours drinking with Mrs. Libby J. Phillips and Mrs. Nellie Casey.

Coroner Jackson made an examination of Mr. Fish's body. He said no fracture of the skull had been found. He believed death had been due to paralysis, caused by a blow on the left side of the face or head. He thought that if Mr. Fish had fallen on a stone or pavement, the skull would probably have been fractured. The coroner said that a knockout blow usually caused paralysis or concussion of the brain. The blow on Mr. Fish's right eye was dilated, while the left was contracted and that the coroner said, was a symptom of paralysis of the brain.

Mrs. Libby J. Phillips, 38 years of age; Mrs. Nellie Casey, 30 years old, and Thomas J. Sharkey, 43 years old, a private detective, have been arrested in connection with the case. They were arraigned in the police court, and were held for the coroner. The coroner said that the man was a suspect in the case. He was a prominent character, and served in the army during the civil war.

Witnesses of the altercation claim that the fight was for money. The fight was for money. The fight was for money.

Coroner Jackson held Sharkey in $10,000 bail, and Mrs. Phillips and Mrs. Casey in $500 each, as witnesses. Sharkey made the following statement preliminary to his arraignment: "I went into Ehrhardt's, and saw the two women, with whom I was acquainted. They called out when they saw me: 'Come over and have a drink.'"

"I went over and sat down with them, and after I had talked to them some this banker, Fish, seemed to take exception to me. He began to say a few words, and at all once he drew out with his arm and struck me. Then we both got up. I went out one door and he the other. I was stumbling down the steps and fallen in going out."

Dr. S. O. Hanlon, coroner's physician, performed an autopsy on Mr. Fish. He found that death was caused by cerebral hemorrhage due to violence.

IN THE INTEREST OF THE

..Woman's Christian Temperance Union..

Edited by a White Ribboner.

"He criticised her puddings, and he didn't like her cake; He wished she'd make the biscuits his mother used to make; She didn't wash the dishes, and she didn't make a stew. And she didn't mend his stockings as his mother used to do. Ah, well, she wasn't perfect, tho' she tried to do her best. Until at length she thought her time had come to have a rest; So, when one day he went the same old rigamarole all through. She turned and boxed his ears, just as his mother used to do."

As should be expected, the obnoxious statements made by Dr. Andrews in regard to the social evil, in the presence of the students of Chicago University, have provoked much comment from both the secular and religious press. Among the papers that have expressed their disapproval of his utterances may be mentioned the Springfield (Mass.) Republican; the Midland (United Presbyterian), Chicago; the Standard (Baptist), Chicago; the Northwestern (M. E.), Chicago; the Christian Standard, Cincinnati; the Free Methodist, Chicago; the Christian Conservator (United Brethren), Huntington, Ind.; the Phalanx (Prohibition), Indianapolis; the Chicago Record-Herald; and the Capital (Republican), Topeka, Kan., the last named heading its article, "Seasickness at Chicago University."

A Few Pointers as to How the Liquor Traffic Manages to Control Elections.

Some of our readers may remember that on June 18, 1899, a special election was held in the state of Pennsylvania, when the citizens voted on a Prohibition amendment to the constitution and in which the amendment was lost.

That defeat has been used ever since by the opponents of Prohibition as illustrating the impracticability of attempting to carry other states for Prohibition by a general election.

Next year, as a similar election was to be held in Nebraska, a decoy letter was sent, ostensibly from a liquor dealer in Nebraska to various parties in Pennsylvania, asking for advice as to the means of carrying the election in Nebraska against Prohibition.

The liquor campaign in Pennsylvania had been managed by Harry P. Crowell, senior member of the firm of Crowell and Glass, a cold storage company doing business in Philadelphia. Mr. Crowell very freely gave the supposed Nebraska liquor dealer some interesting facts in regard to the Pennsylvania campaign, with the intimation that much stronger data could be furnished thru a personal interview. A representative was accordingly sent to confer with Mr. Crowell at his private residence in Philadelphia, and this is what he said:

"In the first place we assessed the sales of all beer per annum at 10 cents a barrel. We levied an assessment of $1,000 on all the large hotels like the Continental, and they paid it like little men, and from $25 to $50 on all smaller retail shops. Besides, each brewer was required to solicit money from every man in trade with whom we had dealings—those engaged in making barrels, those from whom we bought our horses and wagons, and grain and machinery, etc., and if such persons failed to respond after a reasonable time, a NOTICE WAS FORWARDED THAT A PROMPT COMPLIANCE WOULD SAVE TROUBLE and a possible boycott, in this way forcing hundreds to help who did it reluctantly.

"By this plan we raised over $200,000 in Philadelphia alone, which was expended by the state committee.

"Appeals for money were made to the trade throughout the country, and large sums were contributed by the Brewer's Association and the National Protective Association.

"Besides the current expenses, we paid it out to the newspapers, politicians, and some for literature and some for public speakers.

"QUAY BLEED US FOR THREE YEARS.

"We paid the county commissioners of this county to let us have the poll-list exclusively for our use with the understanding that we were not to return the list until after election."

"So the Prohibitionists had no show whatever against us.

"We bought the newspapers by paying down so much cash. I visited the editors in person or had some good man to do so.

"We paid weekly papers from $50 to $500 to publish such matter as we might furnish, either as news or editorial, but city daily papers we had to pay from $1,000 to $4,000, which latter amount was paid to the Times of this city.

"The most effective matter we could get up in the influencing of votes was, that Prohibition did not prohibit, and the revenue, taxation, and how Prohibition would hurt the farmers. We would have these articles printed in different papers and then buy thousands of copies and send them to the farmers. IF YOU WORK THE FARMERS ON THE TAX QUESTION YOU CAN CATCH THEM EVERY TIME.

"I did not go to the preachers as I did to the politicians, but I always found out a good man in the church who could work the preacher with but little trouble, for HALF OF THE PREACHERS ARE COWARDS.

"We talked high license all the time. Never try to defend the saloon; if so, you lose the influence of church members and ministers; but talk about the revenue, cider, taxation, and especially that Prohibition doesn't prohibit, and clamor for high license."

Mr. Collins, secretary of the Scranton Brewing Company, was another party to whom a decoy letter had been sent. He replied: "In the first place I would advise you to get hold of the press as far as possible. You will find that money spent with them will produce greater results than if spent in any other way."

"I could not give you any advice as to how to get control of the clergy, as they are a difficult class to handle."

Mr. J. Rokrer, wholesale liquor dealer at Lancaster, Pa., said among other things, in reply: "Don't bother with preachers. They know nothing but borrowed ideas, but you quietly hand a preacher a $50 bill and say, 'Preach up high license, denounce Prohibition as a failure wherever tried.'"

Another feature of the Pennsylvania campaign was the raid of fakers imported from Prohibition states who went up down the Keystone State declaring Prohibition to be a failure in their own state.

One of these was Tomlinson, a Topeka editor, who, on his return to Kansas, was obliged to rest in court to admit that he had been East telling falsehoods.

The same tactics have prevailed in Texas this year and we will try to furnish the readers of the Bee with some valuable information in this regard next week.

SCIENCE OF MAKING GLASSES.

The Work of Preparing Lenses for Weakness of Eye Calls for Great Skill and Accuracy.

Of the numerous things that glass is used for there is nothing that is more beneficial to people as spectacles or similar glasses that are used to magnify objects. The diseases that weaken the eyes are more numerous than they were a few years ago. Preparing the glass to counteract the diseases has advanced to a considerable degree in the last few years, says the Pittsburgh Press. At one time only aged people had to wear eyeglasses; but now can be seen many children with spectacles, made necessary by some trouble with their vision.

Accidents have often caused sicknesses that have left a bad effect upon the eyes, while various diseases have caused weakness. Nerves which have been ruined by any cause generally leave the eyesight impaired, and although medical science has taken wonderful strides within the past few years, it has not reached the stage where it can be of much avail in restoring ocular perfection. Some forty-eighth century eyes are hereditary. Children of parents with affected eyesight suffer with the same complaint. The child of a cross-eyed parent is generally affected in the same manner. Near-sighted parents often witness the same ailment with their children. In these cases and similar ones medical science fails to give much benefit.

The optician can grind out lenses that are of benefit to near-sighted people. Lenses are also valuable to people with weakened eyes, no matter from what cause, and the preparing of the lenses to suit the case has developed into a science of no mean caliber.

Grinding lenses requires much skill, in addition to studying the diseases of the eyes. To obtain the right focus is the technical matter which they have to guard against. To use a spectacle with improper lenses causes the person to remove the glasses to an adjusted distance from the eyes, so as not to get the right focus. The opticians have the science down so far now that few glasses are turned out without having the exact focus.

The advancement in the power of artificial light has caused one kind of glass to be almost done away with. This is opera glasses. Very few of this kind of magnifying articles are in use now. The few that are purchased are not for use in opera houses, but are merely presents. Just before the Christmas holidays opera glasses are purchased, but after that very few are sold.

With the advent of automobiles a new kind of eyeglasses were put on the market. These are not for weak eyes, but are worn by a person for them. They are used to keep the dirt from blowing into the eyes, and also serve to keep the wind from making the eyes smart, which in time weakens the vision.

MAINE FOREST PRESERVE.

Delightful Retreat in Which Means for Enjoyment Are Held to Be Endless.

"Why," said a lazy lawyer just returning from his first trip to Maine, "I went into the woods for a hundred miles and had a glorious time without lifting a finger. A Pullman dropped me down at Moosehead, a steamer carried me to the lake, further, a buckboard gave me another lift, and then a guide paddled me the rest of the way in a canoe. I slept under a good roof and on a mattress. Everything was done for me. When I fished the guide would take the trout off the hook, fix the fish and all I had to do was to drop in and pull out. A man can take a vacation in the woods as easily as he can at Lenox. I am going to bring my wife with me next season."

But true sportsmen come as well, not only for its gamy trout and wary deer, but for solitude and for primitive simplicity in living, says the World's Work. Means of enjoyment are endless. Exploring is full of surprising delights—creeping in a canoe along the shores of the forest-edged lake for miles and every now and then stealing into little bays where the deer feed on swamp grasses and water lilies and the solemn great gray herons stand like sentinels in the shallow water. "Trails," merely lines of felled trees dangerously far apart, lead through the woods, fragrant with flowers, where birds rare as common as robins, to new lakes or streams. Even rainy days have their charm as the camper sits at the edge of the forest and listens to the tales of wilderness adventures. Here square-tailed trout grow to the weight of ten and even twelve pounds, and they are taken by the ideal method—the fly and the minnow-rod. In the fall still-hunting for deer and moose makes the clear, cool days glide by swiftly.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Sept. 21.—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.
Topic.—The fulness of God; how secured.—Eph. iii, 14-21.

In the topical references we have one of the most remarkable prayers to be found in the word of God. Paul was a man of prayer. He not only prayed for himself, but his prayers were constantly offered to the throne of God for Christian people everywhere and especially in behalf of the Christian churches in which he was interested. He wrote to the Romans that without ceasing he made mention of them in his prayers. In this letter to the Ephesians we have an illustration of one of his best prayers offered in the behalf of a Christian church. This prayer consists of a preface of four petitions and the following doxology: "Now unto Him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us, unto Him be glory in the church by Christ Jesus throughout all ages, world without end. Amen."

As a consummation of all the petitions of this prayer Paul prays that the Ephesians may be "filled with all the fulness of God." This is a peculiar expression. It does not mean that it is possible for the Ephesians to contain the fulness of God. This would be absurd. They are finite; God is infinite. It would be absolutely impossible to confine infinity in the limits of finiteness. What Paul asks is that the Ephesians may be filled with the same sort of graces and perfections that are characteristic of God. They could not contain in themselves the perfect love that is contained in God, and yet to the measure of their faith they could contain the same kind of love as characterizes God. The difference would be in the degree and not in the quality. The smaller vessel could be filled from the larger one and possess the same material contained in it, although it could not contain the same amount. In this sense Paul prays that the Ephesians may be filled with the fulness of God. He asks that they may have the graces of character and the qualities of disposition that characterize God. He possesses in perfection what they would possess in imperfection.

The question asked in the topic is, How is this fulness of God to be received? In the topical reference it is suggested by Paul that it is to be the result of the possession of the qualities which he has prayed for before. There are four of these petitions. 1. Paul prays that they may be strengthened with might in the inner man by the Holy Ghost. 2. He prays that Christ may dwell in their hearts by faith. 3. He prays that they may be able to comprehend what are the breadth and length and depth and height of the love of God. 4. He prays that they may be able to know the love of Christ which passeth knowledge. The result of all these petitions is to be the fulness of God. They include the possession of the Holy Ghost, the indwelling of Jesus Christ, and the comprehension of the love of God and of Christ. If, therefore, we want to know how we may be filled with the fulness of God, answer is found here. The Holy Ghost will strengthen us; then Christ must dwell in our hearts, and, being rooted and grounded in love, we must apprehend and understand the love of God and the love of Christ. Being thus possessed of God and thus understanding the character of God, we cannot but also possess the disposition of God. The Holy Ghost, the Lord Jesus Christ cannot dwell in our hearts without manifesting themselves in our dispositions and in our lives. Being of the same nature as God, they will impart this nature to us, and we will possess to the fullest measure possible the same disposition and the same character that God himself possesses.

BIBLE READINGS.

John I, 15-18; III, 24-26; xiv, 1-6; Acts 1:1-11; I Cor. III, 5-14; II Cor. 13:20; Eph. I, 1-12; Col. I, 12-20; II, 8-10; III, 12-27.

Put Love in Your Heart.

Crowd what money you may into your purse and your purse still empty. But with love in your heart all your drafts are honored. And though you who doubt love question its logic, I say that though love is logical it is sufficient. For that love which was logical or just would come short at the hub. You think love is away up and down, somewhere out of sight and beyond use. No love, too, and in larger sense, is force and restraint and guards and bestimates the sources of life. Indeed there is no practical thing but love. Your bargains and sales are in the last degree ridiculous and useless. But when man does for man, or man for God, the service of life in any of the humble ways of experience, the only practical work of the spheres has been accomplished.—Concurrence.

Just This Minute.

If we're thoughtful, just this minute, in whatever we say and do; if we put a purpose in it; if that is honest thought and through, we shall gladden life and give it grace to make it long; for, though life is long, we live it just this minute at a time.

Just this minute we are going toward the right or toward the wrong; just this minute we are saving or losing; just this minute we are making or breaking; on the ways that lead to God or in idle dreams are sinking To the level of the dead.

Yesterday is gone; tomorrow never comes within our grasp; just this minute's joy or sorrow; that is all our hands may grasp. Just this minute! Let us take it As a part of prayer and with high endeavor make it Fit to shine in prayer.—Christian Endeavor World.

NEWS FOR Colored People

Don't forget the First District Association which will convene with the Mt. Zion Baptist church next Tuesday. Let every person come out and lend a helping hand to make this gathering in every way.

Rev. Gough and family returned from Louisville Thursday night, where he attended the 75th Annual Conference. The Bishop returned to Earlinton to serve the people for another year. The church at Earlinton collected more money for all purposes than any other church in the district.

Revs. I. F. Aldridge, of Madisonville, and Gough, of Earlinton, captured the first two prizes on children's day collection, each having over $50. Rev. P. A. Wallace, of Louisville, received the second prize. The superintendent of each of these schools are to receive a prize.

There will be preaching at the Zion church every night by some one of the ministers attending the association.

Every regular member of the Zion choir is hereby requested to come out Sunday.

Miss Lizzie Anshorn is getting on nicely. We hope to see her out soon.

Mrs. Cassie Williams is on the sick list.

Samuel Eves is on the sick list.

Little Percy Gough is sick.

Prof. Harding, of Madisonville, visited his better half Saturday and returned to his work Monday.

Rev. B. Garrett preached at the Baptist church Sunday morning and night.

Richard Young is yet on the sick list.

Mrs. Henrietta Collins and her brother, Ike, are sick.

Abe Anshorn is on the sick list.

Simon Dunlap left for Henderson Tuesday morning to attend a convention.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

LESSON XII, THIRD QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, SEPT. 21.

Text of the Lesson, Deut. xxiv, 1-12. Memory Verses, 10-12—Golden Text, Ex. xxviii, 12—Concurrence Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns. (Copyright, 1902, by American Press Association.)

12. And the Lord showed him all the land.

Read with prayer and reliance upon the Holy Spirit the parallel passages in Num. xxviii, 12-17; Deut. 10, 20-28; xxiii, 48-52; and notice Moses' great desire to go over into the land, his prayer to God that he might be permitted to do so, God's refusal to allow him, Moses' meek submission and his request that some one be appointed in his stead, so that Israel might not be as sheep which have no shepherd. Observe that it was Moses' sin when he disobeyed God at Kadesh in striking the rock instead of speaking to it and thus failed to sanctify God in the eyes of Israel that kept him from entering the promised land at that time. See Num. xx, 7-13, in connection with the above passages.

1. I have caused thee to see it with thine eyes, but thou shalt not go over thither.

2. Then Moses pleaded to be permitted to go over, the word from the Lord was, "Let it suffice thee, speak no more unto Me of this matter" (Deut. 10, 26), and that was enough. It was Israel's sin in murmuring and rebelling that led Moses to sin, but that did not excuse Moses. How holy is our God, and what holiness He requires in us! And who is equal to it? Failure is seen in Adam, in Noah, in Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, in Moses and Aaron, in David and Elijah, in the apostles and everywhere. There is none good but one. That is God. And Jesus was God manifest in the flesh. It is only as He is manifested in us by His Spirit that our life will be what He desires.

3. Moses was an hundred and twenty years old when he died. His eye was not dim nor his natural force abated.

When Aaron died, Moses and Eleazar were with him, but he saw not Moses when he died. He had often been alone with God, on two different occasions for forty days and nights at a time, but previous to this occasion he had always come back to continue with the people. Now in health and vigor of body and in the use of all his faculties he went up into the mountain alone and returned to Israel no more. Out from the earthly tabernacle in which he had sojourned for 120 years Moses, the servant of the Lord, went to live with God forever. No sickness, no suffering, as far as we know, but he just closed his eyes to earth and entered into the presence of God and of the redeemed and of the holy angels, absent from the body, present with the Lord, which was very far better for him (Phil. 1, 21, 23). He is still there alive and well, and after more than 1,400 years from the time of his departure Peter and the others saw him on the Mount of Transfiguration with Jesus Christ, as he and Elijah spoke with our Lord. He approaching Jesus (Luke 11, 20-22). The body of Moses was buried, but, no man knew where, for he did not see it to tell. To bury bodies in the earth is Scriptural, to burn with fire is heathenish, though it matters little how the body is disposed of for God will raise it up (John 5, 28; 1 Cor. 15, 44, 54).

4. And the children of Israel wept for Moses in the plains of Moab, which was before the eyes of the Lord. Although the great enemy death can only bring gain to the believer, yet his work on the body is to be deplored, and the Lord Himself wept at the grave of Lazarus. Death came by sin, but in due time both death and sin shall be found no more on earth, but shall be destroyed (Rom. xiii, 14; I Cor. xv, 26; Rev. xxi, 3, 4).

5. And Joshua the son of Nun was full of the spirit of wisdom, for Moses had laid his hands upon him.

When Moses asked that some one might be appointed to take his place, God designated Joshua as his successor (Num. xxvii, 18, 19), and now the people hearken to him as they had done to Moses. His story will come before us in the next quarter's lessons. Meanwhile let all be looking up the past mention of him and thus getting better acquainted with him.

In many respects Moses stands alone; none like him. It is written of him, "And the Lord spake unto Moses face to face as a man speaketh unto his friend" (Ex. xxxiii, 11). But in Heb. iii we see how much greater Christ is than Moses, and in that spirit it is set forth how much higher Christ is than angels, than Moses or Aaron or Joshua or any other, our High Priest forever. Therefore, let us not forget the two verses of our lesson set forth the way in which Moses was greater than any other prophet in the matter of the signs and wonders which God wrought by him in connection with Israel's deliverance from Egypt. A greater deliverance for Israel is coming in the future, and we shall see greater wonders shall be delivered from all nations and placed in our own land forever to the glory of God and the blessing of men. Rev. 18, 17; 19, 17; 20, 10; Rev. 1, 10.
